

Infrared Remote Control Video Switch

Your RadioShack Infrared Remote Control Video Switch lets you switch between two 75-ohm VHF/UHF/Cable sources such as broadcast TV, cable TV, a VCR, or a video-disc player, without getting up from your couch or chair. The high-isolation design prevents interference between the two sources, and the electronic switching provides reliable operation because there are no mechanical parts to wear out. Also, the hand-held transmitter's miniature design takes up very little space on your night stand or end table.

INSTALLING BATTERIES

The transmitter requires two AA batteries. We recommend alkaline batteries. Follow these steps to install the remote control's batteries:

1. Remove the battery compartment cover by sliding it in the direction of the arrow.
2. Install two AA batteries according to the polarity symbols (– and +) shown in the compartment.

3. Replace the battery compartment cover.

CONNECTING THE REMOTE CONTROL SWITCH

The remote control switch has two 75-ohm input terminals and one 75-ohm output terminal. Connect the output terminals of the two 75-ohm VHF/UHF/Cable sources to the switch's A IN and B IN terminals. Then, connect the switch's center output terminal to your TV/monitor's input terminal.

Use 75-ohm coaxial cable for these connections. Your local RadioShack store sells the proper cable and other connection accessories.

The following illustrations show some common connections for the remote control switch.

CONNECTING THE AC ADAPTER

The remote control switch is powered by the supplied AC adapter. Connect the barrel plug to the 12VDC jack on the back of the remote control switch. Then, plug the other end of the adapter into a standard AC outlet. The power turns on.

Caution: Use only the supplied adapter with the remote control switch. Using another adapter could damage the switch.

After you complete all connections, place the remote control switch on top of the TV or at any other location that exposes the switch's INFRARED REMOTE window.

OPERATION

To operate the remote control switch, simply point the transmitter at the INFRARED REMOTE window on the front of the remote control switch and press A or B to switch between the two 75-ohm VHF/UHF/Cable sources.
